Rivers of the plain

The rivers of the northern plain carry silt from the mountains to the sea, and the farms along them are rich.

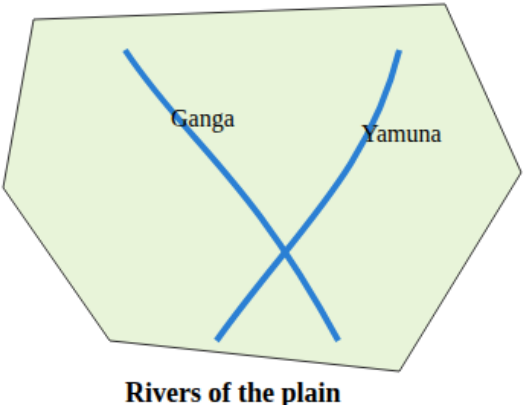

Figure 1: The Ganga and the Yamuna.

Farmers settled where the floods left fertile soil each year.